The services were brief and impressive. The preliminary programme was carried out in the unfinished auditorium, the audience standing in the shadof of the half finished walls. The pastor and choir occupied an improvised platform erected where the pulpit is to be. On this platform were seated a number of pastors and members of the church who were in Salt Lake at the time of the organization of the First.

History of the Church.

The First Presbyterian church of Salt Lake City was organized on Nov. 12, 1871, with ten members. In the spring of 1874 a lot ten rods square, at the northeast corner of Second South and Second East, was purchased at a cost of 211,000. A frame church building was erected upon this site during the summer of 1874, at a cost of $15,500. This building was dedicated on Oct. 11, 1874.

Mr. Welch's health broke cown in the spring of 1876 and he died at his home in the cast, March 18, 1877. At his death the membership of the church was sixty-eight. In the spring of 1875, Professor J. M. Coyner opened a school in the basement of the church. This school grew into the Collegiate Institute. Dr. J. M. Millspaugh and Professor Robert J. Caskey succeeded Professor Coyner as principals. A mission and day school was started later on the west side. Out of these the Westminster church has grown. During the illness of Mr. Welch, and for a while after his death, the Rev. Duncan J. McMillan served the First church as a supply.

v. R. G. McNiece, D. D., became the rid pastor of the church, Aug. 15, 1877.

81 there were cighty-eight members. 1890-92 the church grew rapidly. A dion, which is now the Third Presby-in church, was founded, and a Sunday of was established below Tenth South Second West, which has since been d for by the First church. When McNiece resigned the pastorate of church in 1897, it had a membership over 300 and had been self-supporting several years.

Mr. Paden Takes Charge. In the fall of 1897, the Rev. W. M. Paden, D. D., became the third pastor of the First church. A debt of $10,000 was naid off by the people in 1890. In the fall of 1990 the session considered plans for the enlargement of the old church build-

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair buth. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented. Newbro's Herpicide kills, this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people-all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market today. Sold by leading druggists. Send life in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
